Master of Science in Justice Administration and Leadership

The MS in Justice Administration and Leadership is an executive program offered by the School of Economic, Political and Policy Science and housed in the Department of Criminology.

The program is designated for professionals who are either interested in attaining leadership positions in agencies across the criminal justice spectrum or for those with full-time careers in the field.

Program Description
The program delivers an innovative and integrative curriculum that connects key components of leadership and administration in the criminal justice setting such as, policy implementation and analysis, organizational behavior and change, planning and decision-making and legal issues and conflict resolution.

Students will focus on turning theory into practice by evaluating and applying relevant research findings to their everyday work, and by applying relevant leadership strategies and conflict-resolution and negotiation techniques in criminal justice and other related organizations.

Students must complete 30 credit hours to earn a Master in Justice Administration and Leadership. This includes:

- 15 semester credit hours of criminal justice policy, administration and leadership.
- 9 semester credit hours of public administration
- 6 semester credit hours of legal aspects of administration and negotiation

All students must achieve at least a 3.0 grade point average in all coursework to graduate.

Career Paths
The JAL program prepares students to lead, influence and manage others in an increasingly diversified criminal justice work environment.

Graduates of the program will emerge as leaders prepared to assume supervisory and executive positions in criminal justice and other related organizations.
