

Scholastic Probation

See pages 29 in the 2004-2006 catalog. If your cumulative grade point average, or your average in your major and related courses, falls below 2.0 in any given semester, you will be placed on academic probation. You must then earn a GPA of 2.2 in any subsequent semester until your grade point average is restored to 2.0. While you are on probation, you may not register for more than a maximum of 12 semester hours and the College Master may further restrict these hours. If you do not meet the terms of probation, you will be suspended from the university. For help with study habits, paper writing, or mathematics, please see the Learning Resources Center located in the library on the first floor.
