The George W. Jalonick III and Dorothy Cockrell Jalonick Memorial Distinguished Lecture Series

The George W. Jalonick III and Dorothy Cockrell Jalonick Memorial Distinguished Lecture Series was established to inform and enlighten the public about the history of flight by bringing aviation notables to the Dallas community. Dorothy and George Jalonick III were special friends of The University of Texas at Dallas and the History of Aviation Collection (HAC). This series was endowed in their memory by the late George W. Jalonick IV and friends of the Jalonick family.

The History of Aviation Collection

The University of Texas at Dallas houses a unique resource of aeronautical history known as the History of Aviation Collection (HAC). Located on the third floor of the Eugene McDermott Library in the Special Collections Department, the core of the HAC consists of four collections: the CAT /Air America Archive, the George Williams World War I Aviation Library, the Admiral Charles E. Rosendahl Lighter-Than-Air Collection, and the General James H. Doolittle Collection. The HAC holds hundreds of individual collections ranging from aviation pioneer Ormer Locklear to commercial aviation.
