Historical Sketch

James Lee Kerr III was born on May 27, 1946 in Corpus Christi, Texas to a family with a long tradition of service to the United States Navy and roots in Texas dating back to 1822. Kerr's father's deployments with the Navy allowed young James views of many countries throughout the world including the Philippine Islands and Norway. He attended Rice University in Houston, Texas as well as the American University in Washington, D.C., where he majored in archaeology and ancient history, and from which he graduated magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Science degree. From 1971 through 1974, Kerr attended the Medical College of Virginia. While in the United States Navy, Kerr was promoted from the enlisted ranks to a rating as a Commissioned Officer, and later appointment as a Medical Administrative Officer, specializing in Nuclear, Biological, and Chemical Warfare Defense. James L. Kerr III also served his country during the Vietnam War and his final shipboard assignment was aboard a nuclear powered aircraft carrier. Due to severe health issues, Kerr accepted a disability retirement from active duty in October of 1984.

By the end of that year, James L. Kerr III and his family moved to Dallas, Texas where he accepted a position as an Administrator of the Radiology Department at Parkland Memorial Hospital. Kerr possessed a brilliant and gifted mind that pursued a wide range of interests, such as photography, ancient history, aviation, archeology, anthropology, astronomy, and music. He played piano in a variety of styles ranging from classical music to jazz as well as performing as a guest pianist in a televised show of the world famous musician and composer André Previn during the latter's tenure with the Houston Symphony Orchestra.

Kerr's great interest in World War I aviation led him to join both the American and British chapter of the Cross and Cockade Journal. He was one of the founding members of the League of World War I Aviation Historians that regularly met at The University of Texas at Dallas, with which he held many positions such as treasurer and editor. Kerr played a crucial role in successfully launching Over the Front magazine. He also wrote for the magazine specializing in k.u.k. Austro-Hungarian and Italian aviation, as well as an award winning three part article titled Caporetto or Silvio Scaroni.

Kerr's health conditions deteriorated significantly in his later years and he died on July 30, 1989 at the young age of 43 leaving behind his wife Bobbie and eleven children ages 3 through 17, out of which six were adopted during their marriage. George H. Williams, Jr. characterized him in his eulogy as a "resolute, able and brilliant man, but his true, pure legacy is his family. He loved them all. Gentle people, he was my friend."

.04 linear ft. (one envelope). This subseries is arranged by alphabetically by topic.

Subseries (d), Video Disk

.08 linear ft. (four items). This subseries is arranged numerically.

Scope and Content

This collection contains photocopies of documents, articles, clippings, reference materials, blueprints, listings, notes, maps, ephemera, photographs, 8mm films, micro films, video tapes, and video disks created and/or collected by James L. Kerr, III during his lifetime. The James L. Kerr, III Papers are housed in forty-three manuscript boxes, four half-size manuscript boxes, sixteen oversize boxes of various dimensions, and nine film containers totaling 31.10 linear feet.

The collection was purchased from the widow of James L. Kerr, III, Bobbie Kerr, and arrived in three increments at the George H. Williams, Jr. World War I Aviation Library in good condition and well organized. The entire corpus of materials was kept in its folders and binders and processed with only few items in each manuscript box totaling about one-hundred-and-forty-two boxes. Since this processing style bent and damaged the materials and because of difficulty in locating and accessing certain parts of the collection, as well as the lack of a proper finding aid, the entire collection was reprocessed and newly arranged.

The archivist identified four series with the first series being the Entente Series, which is further organized in three subseries: (a) Great Britain, (b) France, and (c) USAAS.

Subseries (a) consists of RFC/RAF squadron histories, combat casualties, communiqués, unit locations in France, summaries of air intelligence reports, combat in the air reports, daily reports, war diaries, squadron record books, and daily reports of operations.

Subseries (b) contains compte rendu reports or daily reports from French units.

Subseries (c) contains pilot listings and American air intelligence bulletins and summaries.

The second series is the Central Powers Series, which is further arranged in two subseries: (a) German and (b) k.u.k. Austro-Hungarian.

Subseries (a) consists of the Nachrichtenblatt der Luftstreitkräfte of the various armies of the Kommandeur der Fliegertruppen (KOFL), the Marine Luftfahrt-Abteilung, Marine-Flieger-Abteilung, and German Extracts.

Subseries (b) includes the Nachrichtenblatt der k.u.k. Luftfahrtruppen, pilots, aircraft manufacturers and Austrian-Hungarian units listings.

The third series is the Publications Series, which is further structured in three subseries: (a) Entente, (b) Central, and (c) General Publications.

Subseries (a) contains articles and clippings regarding aircraft manufacturers and their various models, unit histories, and pilot's biographies and their achievements. Some of the articles were authored or co-authored by James L. Kerr. Of particular interest are the articles on Italian units, battles, and personnel, namely the Caporetto articles Part I through III or Silvio Scaroni by Kerr.

Subseries (b) includes articles and clippings pertaining to the German and k.u.k. Austro-Hungarian as well as the Ottoman Air Forces and their aircraft, biographies, and units.

Subseries (c) covers general topics of World War I aviation history that do not necessarily fall into the above mentioned categories. The researcher will find catalogs and reference sources and a chronology of World War I here.

The fourth and last series is the Audiovisual Media Series, and is by far the largest and the most important series, which is further organized into four subseries: (a) Moving Images, (b) Still Images, (c) Audio, and (d) Video Disk.

Subseries (a) includes various video tapes and 8mm film depicting topics like Battle of Britain, The Dawn Patrol, or Hell's Angels among others. Of interest are items 12 and 13 covering the Over the Front seminar held by Kerr.

Subseries (b) contains microfilm covering the records of the American Expeditionary Forces, combats in the air reports and war diaries of RFC/RAF as well as photographs and transparencies of aircraft, units, and personnel of all the main countries engaged in World War I.

Subseries (c) contains two audio tapes with titles Zeppelins-, and various symphonies of Ludwig van Beethoven.

Subseries (d) are video disks from the Smithsonian Air & Space Museum containing indices of aircraft manufacturers and other aircraft types, biographical information, as well as information about aviation collections overseas.

Provenance Statement

The James L. Kerr III Papers were purchased in multiple accessions by the History of Aviation Collection, Special Collections Department, McDermott Library, The University of Texas at Dallas, from James L. Kerr III's widow Bobbie Kerr on February 12, 1991.

Literary Rights Statement

Permission to publish material from this collection in any form, current or future, must be obtained from the Special Collections Department, McDermott Library, The University of Texas at Dallas.

Note to the Researcher

Due to the first processing style the materials and documents were in danger of permanent damage. Articles and clippings were in plastic sheets sometimes glued onto construction paper to support the paper. All these sheets have been removed and the construction paper has been detached from the articles where possible. Then the pages were interleaved with acid-free paper. Where necessary the staples have been removed and exchanged with covered paperclips. The photos that were originally housed in metal file cabinets were either stored in boxes or processed in polypropylene sleeves in photo albums.

It is the researcher's responsibility to secure permission from copyright holders of materials to which this institution does not own copyright.

Images in this collection are identified by a unique number that provides information about the format, record group, collection, series, box, folder, and image numbers. Please use this number when ordering reproductions of images from this collection.

Record Group Code

- T = Positive Transparency
- B = Black and White
- C = Color

Example: 4JK-72-2-1

- 4 = George H. Williams Archives
- JK = James L. Kerr III Papers
- = Series Number
- 72 = Box Number
- 2 = Folder Number
- 1 = Image Number

Images archived in plastic image holders may also have a location code in the format: 1/TL. In this example, the number is the sheet number and the letters indicate the top left position on the sheet. Position indicators are T = top, L = left, R = right, M = middle, and B = bottom. Position indicators may be combined to describe the position on the sheet, as shown in this example.
